New Production Manager - John Lane

Some benevolent good spirit has finally supplied the GOLDEN TRIANGLE with a PRODUCTION MANAGER-- and we think that he is one worth waiting for. John Lane is a student of Electronic Technology at Gateway Tech who hopes to go on with further studies in engineering when he graduates next year-- this should enable him to outwit our mimeograph machine. (In fact he is donating more of his electronics talent to the A.Y. H. He has promised to build a new amplifier for the phonograph in our meeting place.)

John Lane is a resident of Penn Hills and has been a member of A.Y.H. for four years. When John is not wiring, un-wiring, and re-wiring electrical devices, he hikes, canoes, and cycles. He claims to have been wounded in action on the Century Ride.

As production manager of the GOLDEN TRIANGLE John Lane will oversee the technical aspects of producing the TRIANGLE. He will also be in charge of contacting people and organizing them to join the fabulous GOLDEN TRIANGLE safaria that takes place once a month on or near the twentieth. He will be free to use any form of coercion or blackmail so why not contact him and volunteer to work on the next issue -- before he gets you. (Telephone 371-8739) Seriously, we welcome John to the staff and hope that everyone will cooperate with his work.

Personality of the Month - Dave Magram

It is by popular request that we re-instate the "Personality of the Month" feature. And what more popular figure to begin with than the controversial editor of the GOLDEN TRIANGLE? At last count Dave Magram's telephone number had appeared on these pages fifteen times since September--for everything from selling kittens to cycle trips, but mostly as the person to contact if you would do anything--and that means anything -- for the GOLDEN TRIANGLE. Since September too we all have had a chance to get some idea of where Dave stands on the important issues of the day (and some of the unimportant ones) in his editorials and "Harpoons."

When he is not penning vitriol or hydrogen sulphide, Dave is most often seen folk singing. He acts as accompanist (on banjo, guitar, washtub-bass, and kazoo) for the popular folk singing trio "Ken, Rick, and Sue." Besides which he makes his own banjos with Scruggs tunners (the significance of this accomplishment is lost to those who are not familiar with the ways of folk art).

By profession Dave is a Junior at Taylor-Allderdice High School which institution he thinks honored by numbering him among its students.

Dave has been active in A.Y.H. for two years. He is a veteran of the Century Ride and has completely worn out one bike--with a little help from a telephone pole.

Pittsburgh A.Y.H.'ers get around, here is word from

OUR Foreign Correspondent (Veronica Anderson)

I left Pittsburgh on June 30, 1963 and flew to New York where I got on the BOAC Britannia for London. I had a very pleasant flight and plenty of good food. I was met at London Airport (I'm sure Pittsburgh's is bigger) by a friend of my travel agent who got me acquainted with London. I stayed there for two weeks with the free compliments of a lady I met in the street walking her dog. She lived in one of the most fashionable parts of London, gave me the key to her flat, and I could come and go at will. It was typical English weather--very cold and rainy. I saw most of the usual sights. Then I went to Paris on the night train and the ferry.

My French was put to the real test--I didn't do so well at first. Here I made my first big mistake. I had to pay $25.00 for one night in a hotel for girls. Had I been smart I would have left and not told them I was leaving. I met a Canadian at the UNESCO hostel who had a tiny flat. He was going to Spain the next day and invited me to go and split expenses in half. The next day I bought a pair of jeans for about $3.00 in a small town market (the dealer hastily nailed up a blanket in the back of his truck so I could try a couple of pair on) and a pair of sandals. In this town, Chateaudun, I got my first taste of hosteling. The hostel was an old school, still in use, with just the barest essentials.

The next day we drove through the famous chateau country. We visited Chateau Blois, one of the homes of the French kings and queens. We visited Chartres and its cathedral with the gorgeous stained-glass windows. Then on through Tours, Poitiers, Bordeaux, Biscarasse--where we slept on the beach--Baritz, and into Spain to San Sabastin.

Spain is very cheap; the poverty is appalling. Only the poor and the rich are seen--no middle income bracket. We stuck to the coastline. (This real-life adventure to be continued in Next Month's TRIANGLE)
