Volunteer News and Opportunities

AYH Office Volunteers

Volunteers are needed for day or evening to work at the Pittsburgh Council Office. We need people to answer the phone, do data entry, type and other light office duties. If interested please call Marianne at 921-5272.

Hostel Programming

Volunteers are needed for hostel programming. Linda Smithyman would like to begin some real programming for the hostellers staying at the VRC and Ohiopyle hostels. If you would be interested in helping out Linda invites you to attend a meeting on Monday, February 10th at 7:30 pm at the AYH office on Solway Street.

If you have ever gone hostelling you will know what Linda is talking about. Call her at 531-1868 for more details and information. Stay tuned to the February newsletter for more information.

AYH Cable TV??!?

Pittsburgh Council of AYH has an opportunity to work with our local community access cable channel to produce an AYH cable TV show!

"Pittsburgh Community Television" has invited us (as a local non-profit community organization) to use their studios, equipment and expertise to produce a short program in their studio or on location. The program would be aired on local cable at dates and times to be arranged.

Joe Hoechner is seeking an active, knowledgeable AYH member who can focus (no pun intended) in on this project to work with PCTV to produce a cable program for Pittsburgh AYH. Keep in mind that they have a variety of formats to follow: sit-down studio interviews, existing slides with narration edited together on videotape, or outdoor action locations to provide a video news release.

If you have some spare time available this winter, this could be a project for you! If you are interested in working to develop this project, be sure to give Joe a call at 242-0781.

Thanks Folks!

by Linda Smithyman

The last Ohiopyle Hostel work party on October 20th featured a nice number of volunteers who turned out to paint, clear the lawn and plant bulbs. Thanks to Royanne Mac, Tom Rodgers, Chris Kline, Sandy Wycoff, Jerry Ritter, Ron Boone, Marianne Kasica, and A. J. Stones (especially for providing the ladders). All of you deserve a big round of applause for helping out.

Some of us went hiking in the park and we also got to meet Doug Hoehn, Ohiopyle Park Superintendent and his wife at lunch. He's a nice guy. Thanks to Sue Moore, hostel manager, for helping out with lunch, too.

A party of six of us went down the night before and hiked the rather level Great Gorge Trail as the sun set and the moon lit up the park. We were brave and left the flashlights off 'cause there was almost plenty of natural light the whole time. We weren't going to run into any bears or anything with all of the noise that we were making! I would have been apprehensive if I had been walking alone but it was a great feeling to be out in the woods at night (OK, 7:00 pm) with a group and having a good time. We took some photos on the bridge below Railroad Rapids and all said that we were going to hike in the evening again. But everyone was hungry (AYH also stands for Are You Hungry in case you didn't know) so we headed out to eat and visited Nemocolin Woodlands Resort for a while before heading back to the hostel to stay overnight.

I plan on having at least three trips next year with this same itinerary of an evening hike, staying overnight and then volunteering for the hostel work party the next day, possibly June, August and October. Stay tuned to future newsletters for dates.

Squirrel Problems?

Pittsburgh AYH has a "Hav-a-Heart" live trap available that's just the right size for catching squirrels that might be living in your attic.

Joe Hoechner reports that the HQ squirrels are alive and well, living in upscale Fox Chapel.

If you would like to rent the trap (it's $5 a week), Joe can provide tips on trapping and baiting. You must pick up and return to HQ on a Thursday night. Rental proceeds benefit Hostel Development. Call Joe at 242-0781.

P.S. If you catch a skunk, you buy the trap!

Where's the Snow?

Want to know the snow conditions in your favorite ski or snowmobile area? Both the Bureau of State Parks and Bureau of Forestry have telephone numbers to call for weekly snow updates.

For information on snow conditions and ice thickness in state parks, call 1-800-63-PARKS. Reports from the parks are updated each Thursday.

For information on snow conditions on state forest lands, the Bureau of Forestry operates a snowmobile hotline from December 14 to March 17 with a message that is updated by 10 am every Tuesday and Friday. The snowmobile hotline number is 717-787-5651.

Great Ride Set for June 28

Mark your calendars! Pittsburgh Citiparks has set the date for the 1992 Great Ride as Sunday June 28th. The Great Ride is being moved from last year's Memorial Day date in order to spread out the cycling calendar a bit. The Ride will be in the same format as last year's Great Ride: 15, 25 and 50 mile rides starting near Phipps Conservatory in Pittsburgh's Schenley Park and touring through the East End, the North Side and the South Side. Join 2,000+ cyclists for one of the biggest cycling events in the Tri-State area. Watch the newsletter for more information.

Pittsburgh Council, along with the Western Pennsylvania Wheelmen, has been one of the main supporters of the Great Ride. We will again provide volunteer support for this event. An organizational meeting for Great Ride staff and volunteers will be held in early February. It will be announced in the newsletter.

With the help of our volunteers, over $6,000 was raised from last year's ride, with most of that amount being donated to the Pittsburgh Hostel Fund.

A Rail Trail Unites Two Worlds

by Sue Gerard

[Editor's note: This article is taken from a recent issue of Trailblazer, the newsletter of the Rails to Trails Conservancy.]

My Dad used to look at rolling hills, steep bluffs, heavily wooded areas or swampy land and say, "Hell, it's worthless; you couldn't raise anything on it." He was a farmer. Mom was a town girl, and she loved to walk in the woods, especially between daylight and sun-up.

Why do I write this today? Because people like Mom and Dad are now involved in the new 200-mile long park, the Missouri River State Trail. It passes through farmland, rivers, hills, bluffs and wooded areas owned mostly by people like Dad. The hikers and bikers who come from the cities to this trail will be, mostly, people like Mom.

Here's a chance for urban and rural dwellers to understand each other more sympathetically. Imagine the farmer's delight when he visits over the fence with the customers who buy hamburgers, ice cream and cookies made of products produced on his farm. Imagine the city dweller's surprise to learn that the farmer gets only eight or nine cents for the grain that is in an expensive box of cereal!

Visiting with farmers who live along the Katy trail, I discovered that they think trail walkers will be the "city hoodlums" who've trespassed on their land, harassed their animals and shot holes in their mailboxes.

We farmers have legitimate complaints when non-farmers misuse us. Someone recently dug up the tulip and jonquil bulb I planted and tended near our mailbox. A neighbor's beautiful pine tree was cut and taken from her yard one morning just before Christmas. And just a couple of weeks ago, vandals pounded up mailboxes and uprooted their posts along our country road.

No wonder rural people are apprehensive! But vandalism by trail users is rare because hoodlums find very little to lure them down a long, skinny park.

Who are the hikers and bikers who seek nature trails such as the new Missouri River State Trail? They are people like my Mom, who yearn for the sounds of birds, the smells of wild plum blossoms and the feel of wild mushrooms and moss. They walk and bike for fitness and health; they seek a closeness with God-made things.

They'll hear the farmer's rooster crow, smell the freshly-cut alfalfa. They'll find rest where they see no billboards and hear no squealing tires.

Urban dwellers might be tempted to get off the trail to pick some wildflowers. But farmers can suffer tremendous losses from such a seemingly harmless thing as that. If one hiker makes a path through a field, others will likely think that it is OK and do the same thing. Trail users should stay on the trail and enjoy those wildflowers from afar.

Now is the time to accentuate the positive. For the last three or four years, the terms "trail user" and "land owner" have been batted around by the media until one might think that they were at war. They're actually quite dependent on each other. It's true what the farmer's bumper sticker says: "Feeding you is what farming is." The non-farmer must eat; the farmer must sell his products.

The bottom line is this: Let's all—farmers and non-farmers—enjoy this wonderful new Missouri park.

Farmers, if you're not racing to get the hay in the barn before the storm strikes, take the time to welcome those hikers and bikers and help them learn where their food comes from. Trail users, stay on the long skinny park and treat this precious resource with respect.

See you there?

Sue Gerard is retired and lives in Columbia, Missouri. She taught physical education at Christian/Columbia College for more than 30 years.

President's Corner

(412) 665-9554 (Compuserve: 73467,3201)

Well, it's January. As soon as the holidays are over, it'll be time once again to get ready for a new year of AYH trips and activities and hostelling. One of the things coming up is a repeat of last year's planning retreat for the board of directors, probably in late February or early March. We'll be doing some long range planning for the Council for the next 2 years, 5 years and 10 years. This planning will be used to set the direction for the Council and to set specific goals and objectives for the next few years. What I'd like to get from the membership at large is a list of concerns and suggestions that can be used as a starting point for discussion at the retreat. What do you think the Council's priorities should be? What new projects should we start? What old projects should we drop? What should we continue and at what level?

A similar process is going on at the National level, with an apparent trend towards a greater emphasis on hostels and a lesser emphasis on activities. How should Pittsburgh Council, one of the traditional "activity councils" react to this? I'd appreciate your comments in order to get as much input as possible before the retreat. The general topics are Activities and Programs, Hostels, Hostelling, Member Services, and Administrative Support, but all comments on AYH and the Council are welcome.

The next Board of Director's meeting is on Jan 20th at the AYH office at 5604 Solway at 7:30 pm.

Cross-Country Weekends at Wilderness Lodge

January 10-12
January 24-26
January 31-February 2
February 7-9

You may still be able to reserve a spot at one of the four weekend trips to Wilderness Lodge. These weekends in the Erie snow belt feature rustic, intimate lodging and ski trails that are tracked and groomed. The lodge has been a perennial favorite of AYH skiers, so you are warned to reserve early.

The cost of the weekend includes lodging Friday and Saturday nights, a delicious candlelight dinner Saturday evening, and cross-country trail fees for two days. A vegetarian meal is available on request. Ski rentals, breakfasts and lunches are available at extra cost.

Space is limited to 34 persons per weekend. AYH members' cost for the weekend is $60, and non-members pay $70. A private room (two only; the rest are dorm style) are an extra $10 per person.

To reserve a spot, call Susan at the AYH office at (412) 422-2282. You will then need to send a check for the full amount. Refunds (less a processing fee) will be made until 21 days before each trip, but only if we can find a replacement for you. Wilderness Lodge and AYH reserve the right to cancel any trip due to weather. In any case, we will keep a $10 processing fee.
